James Fisher Marine Services Mike Tyrrell appointed Business Development Director

James Fisher Marine Services Division has announced the appointment of Mike Tyrrell as Business Development Director. This will be the second time around with James Fisher for Mike as he was employed with us until 1995, latterly as Director of Operations.

Arthur Todd, Managing Director of James Fisher Marine Services said:

“Mike brings with him a wealth of experience from his long association with the RAF, RN, MOD and other Government marine organisations at home and overseas, together with experience from his previous posts where he has specialised in the provision of a variety of marine services support to MOD, other Government Departments and the private sector. In his new role, Mike will lead our efforts to secure new services and contracts in niche areas of surface ship management and support together with focussing on other marine projects.”
